Pearls of Wisdom

VIRTUOSO ADVISORS SHARE THEIR Top Travel Tips

Don't Forget

"Don't plan every minute of every day. Travel is about experiencing the unexpected. Can you really be certain you'll want to eat a 12-course gourmet French meal six months from this Thursday?"

– Linda Munson,
Beverly Hills, Michigan

Picture Perfect

For the Galápagos: "Pack a polarizing filter to prevent washed-out photos, which are often produced in the harsh, equatorial sun. Also consider bringing a waterproof case or camera for underwater shots."

– Lisa Allan,
Sydney, Australia

Money

"ATM withdrawals give you the best exchange rate."

– Eric Dahlstrand,
Erie, Pennsylvania

There's an App for That

"GateGuru gives real-time flight updates based on your itinerary and keeps airport amenities at your fingertips by showing restaurants, coffee shops, and the like located nearby. The app works for both domestic and international airports, and even tracks your travels through 'Your Travel Stats.'"

– Judy Perl,
New York City

Hotels

"Don't assume a villa will be more expensive; in fact, it is often a better value, especially if you're planning to book two or more rooms. Not only do you avoid the stress of having to find connecting rooms (especially during peak season), but you can also save money by preparing meals and snacks."

– Suzette Mack,
San Jose, California

Staying Healthy

"If you're prone to seasickness or motion sickness, instead of taking prescription pills or wearing patches, which may make you groggy, take gingerroot tablets."

– Laura Baker,
Nashville, Tennessee

Passports

"Make a copy of the first two pages of your passport before leaving on your trip. Travel with your passport on your person, then put the two pages in your checked bag to avoid losing both at the same time. When at your destination, keep the physical copy and the photocopies separate as well. If you lose the physical copy, this can make it much easier to get home in a timely fashion."

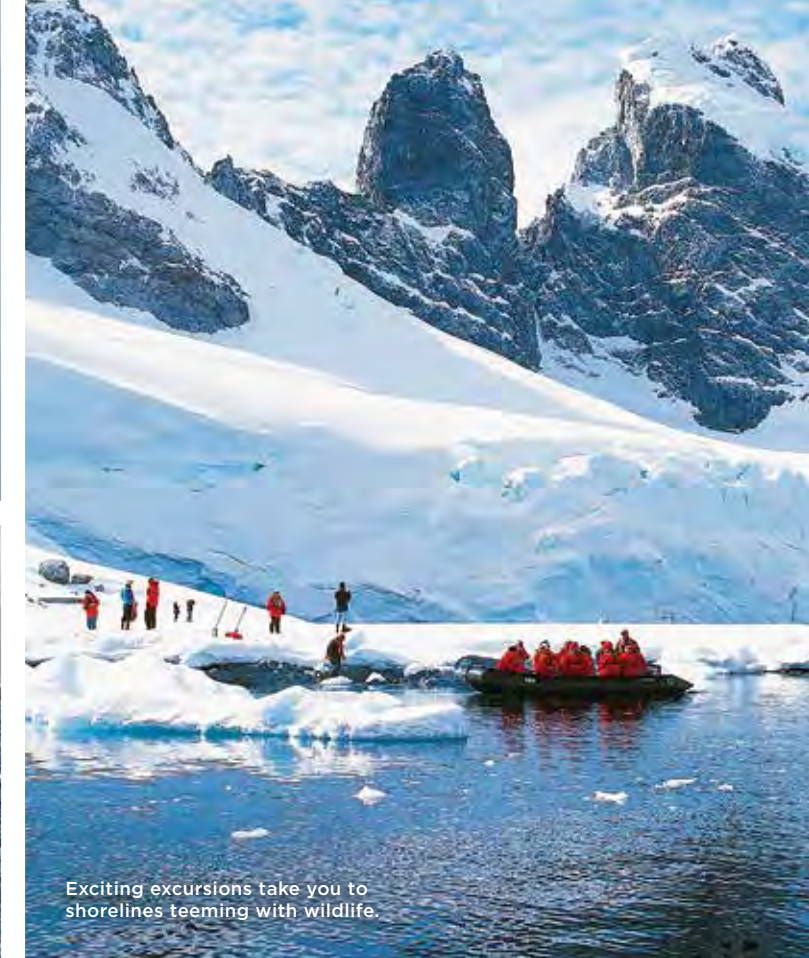

– Maggie Condon Campos,
Spokane, Washington

At 1,300 pounds, polar bears weigh in as the world's largest land carnivores.

Whales of Antarctica include Humpback, Orca, and Minke.

Exciting excursions take you to shorelines teeming with wildlife.

Abercrombie & Kent

ARCTIC & ANTARCTIC

Chill out next year on your choice of polar expeditions from Abercrombie & Kent. Cruise to pristine, remote Arctic islands few others have seen, including the polar bear haven of Svalbard and Iceland's West Fjords. Retrace the steps of the Vikings while discovering geological treasures, from Iceland's stunning Westman Islands to Greenland's storied southern coast. Or set out with a world-renowned Expedition Team for a voyage to the unparalleled "White Continent," where you'll explore during Antarctica's most favorable summer season. A&K charts sophisticated, all-balcony expedition cruisers and limits the number of guests, so that you can enjoy more shore excursions and the most stylish travel possible.

ADVISOR TIP

A&K's Expedition Teams in the Arctic and Antarctic are second to none, including a host of award-winning research scientists, wildlife photographers, and habitat conservationists.

Top Dream Destinations

Cool Places

The results of our annual Travel Dreams Survey are in. You told us your cool-weather destinations, and now we show you how to make your travel dreams come true – with new trips, the best hotels, and insights from Virtuoso travel advisors.

Ireland

Take to the open road – some 1,500 miles of it – on Ireland's Wild Atlantic Way. This stretch of the country's west coast, from Donegal to Cork, features dramatic cliffs, secret surf spots, and islands accessible by cable car.

Next summer, Lindblad Expeditions' 102-passenger National Geographic Orion circumnavigates Ireland on an eight-day expedition, stopping at lesser-known ports for whiskey tours, national park visits, and green for miles.

"Drive the Wild Atlantic Way in early May or late September, taking the southwest route from Cork up to Connemara. This portion of the oceanside route allows for spectacular views and great photo opportunities."

– Maureen Hutchison, travel advisor, Toronto

Antarctica

Difficult to reach, inhospitable, and majestic – it's no wonder Antarctica rounds out seasoned travelers' wish lists. Of the expected 37,000 visitors in 2015, some 10,000 will never set foot on shore (due in part to cruise-ship regulation in the region). Reach out and touch the White Continent on Zegrahm Expeditions' 22-day sailing aboard the 110-passenger Sea Adventurer, with multiple stops on South Georgia Island, plus Elephant Island and the Antarctic Peninsula.

For the comfort of a larger-ship experience – with the caveat that there won't be land excursions – Celebrity Cruises' 15-day round-trip sailings from Buenos Aires on the 2,170-passenger Celebrity Infinity include scenic cruising at Elephant Island and Paradise Bay.

"Book Antarctica expedition cruises more than a year in advance to ensure availability and preferred accommodations. (Most early-booking discounts end a year or more before departure.)

A travel advisor knowledgeable about Antarctica can help identify operators with crews that have decades of experience in the region and ships equipped with state-of-the-art safety equipment. For the maximum number of Zodiac landings, seek ships carrying fewer than 200 passengers." – Jane Hazelrig, travel advisor, Birmingham, Alabama

France

For flat-out French glam, Parisian hotels deliver. Eight of the country's 16 "Palace" hotels are here, including the 18th century chic Le Meurice and the cool, contemporary Park Hyatt Paris-Vendôme. Another reason to visit: The Ritz Paris reopens later this year – with the first-ever Chanel spa.

Take in southern France during a sailing to Corsica along the Côte d'Azur aboard Star Clippers' 170-passenger Star Flyer. During eight days, the four-masted ship calls in such ports as Saint-Tropez, Monaco, and Bonifacio.

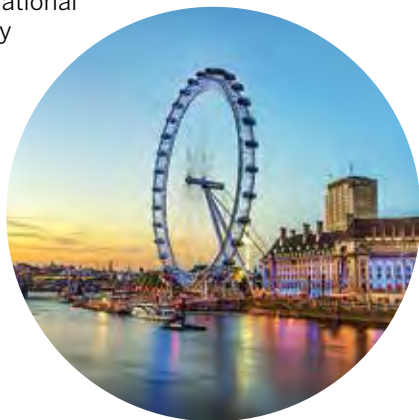

"Visiting France in the fall allows you to avoid summer's heat and crowds while enjoying traditional regional harvest food and drink, such as calvados – apple brandy from Normandy that is a favorite harvest tradition."

– Tamara Olton, travel advisor, Willoughby, Ohio

England

Soak in Bath's famed thermal waters during a jaunt through southern England with Globus. The country's sightseeing superstars – from Big Ben to Stonehenge – make cameos throughout the seven-day trip's itinerary.

London delivers a cultural hit throughout late summer and into fall: Celebrate the 150th anniversary of Alice in Wonderland; visit Buckingham Palace, which opens to the public in August and September; catch the National Portrait Gallery's Audrey Hepburn photographic exhibit from July 2 through October 18; and dine at The Connaught, where Hélène Darroze continues to produce the cuisine that garnered her the Veuve Clicquot World's Best 2015 Female Chef award.

Glamorous yachts and enchanting villas dot the Cote d'Azur.

Your bed is angled to face the passing riverscape.

Get a floor-to-ceiling view of Europe.

Avalon Waterways

EUROPE

Ah, for springtime in Europe... no other season is quite so romantic. From Paris's cherry blossoms to Vienna's peonies and Holland's and Belgium's tulip-carpeted fields, come spring, the Continent is abloom with dazzling color. Take it all in from your Panorama Suite's wall of windows, which open to let in the fresh air and fabulous vistas. It's just one of the many ways Avalon Waterways is changing the view of river cruising: More room to spread out; more dining choices, with complimentary wine; a variety of entertainment options, from movie nights to demonstrations by local artisans; and more ways to explore the rich heritages and cultures ashore.

ADVISOR TIP

Ask your Cruise Director when you'll be cruising by scenic landscapes or must-see sights. Then lie back in your Panorama Suite and watch the movie through your Open-Air Balcony.

Top Dream Destinations

Warm Wishes

The results of our annual Travel Dreams Survey are in. You told us your warm-weather destinations, and now we show you how to make your travel dreams come true – with new trips, the best hotels, and insights from Virtuoso travel advisors.

Australia

One big (literally – 135,000-square-miles big) reason Australia tops the Travel Dreams list year after year: The Great Barrier Reef. Explore the natural wonder from all angles at One&Only Hayman Island, where guests snorkel, dive, and fish on the reef, or survey it from above during helicopter or seaplane tours. Set on a private, palm-fringed island in the Whitsundays chain, the resort's 160 rooms and villas border a crescent-shaped beach.

Swain Destinations' 13-day tour of Sydney, Adelaide, Melbourne, and the vineyard-lined Hunter Valley mixes wine and wildlife – but not at the same time.

tip "Tasmania, Australia's best-kept secret, is home to wonderful beaches, natural beauty, world-class wines, and fresh produce and seafood. Approximately 40 percent of the island is reserved as a national park or Wilderness World Heritage Area, and it's only an hour's flight from Melbourne. Rent a car for ten days and drive its width and breadth to discover wild and beautiful landscapes, from Wineglass Bay and Cradle Mountain to Gordon River and the spectacular convict-era ruins of Port Arthur, Richmond, and Ross."
– Gary Woodland, travel advisor, Launceston, Tasmania

The Caribbean

Sail the eastern Caribbean with a French accent on the three-masted, 64-passenger Le Ponant. Ponant's French origins mean Gallic touches, from L'Occitane products and grand cru wines to a French crew. Sail round-trip from Martinique for eight days with calls on Saint Lucia, Bequia, and more.

Time to book a flight to Puerto Rico: The 1919 Spanish revival-style Condado Vanderbilt Hotel (yes, those Vanderbilts) in San Juan recently reopened following a $200 million renovation.

Italy

Just one reason Italy perennially captures a top spot on this list: Rich artistic traditions. Artisans of Leisure takes travelers on an over-the-top private 13-day journey through the best of Italian art, from the Sistine Chapel to the Uffizi and the contemporary Peggy Guggenheim Collection.

Get a hands-on lesson in Tuscan cooking at L'Andana, a 33-room resort in the Maremma region and home of Italy's only Alain Ducasse restaurant.

tip "One hot new destination: The Basilicata region. It's home to Francis Ford Coppola's Palazzo Margherita in Bernalda, complete with frescoes, gardens, and a gourmet restaurant. It also has the Sassi of Matera – UNESCO World Heritage caves housing stunning hotels and cafés."
– Pallavi Shah, travel advisor, New York City

Every shore excursion offers an in-depth destination experience.

Jordan Tourism

MIDDLE EAST

Release your inner Indiana Jones while riding horseback through the Canyon of the Crescent Moon – better known as the Siq at ancient Petra. The celluloid hero found the Holy Grail in this jaw-dropping, 2,000-year-old city carved out of the sheer rock face. Then again, you might see yourself as Lawrence of Arabia crossing the Wadi Rum desert, albeit in a more modern fashion via four-wheel drive. Yet Jordan is so much more than just a film backdrop: Natural and archaeological jewels abound, from Mount Nebo and the Dead Sea to the Greco-Roman ruins at Jerash and Madaba, home to a mosaic map of the Holy Land made from two million pieces of brightly colored stone.

TOP RAIL JOURNEYS

A classic plan for the Venice Simplon-Orient-Express, plus top rail journeys in Canada and South Africa.

GO London to Venice is perhaps the most classic route traveled by Belmond's Venice Simplon-Orient-Express, but the train also operates on its original itinerary from Paris to Istanbul. The five-night journey, with overnights alternating between the train and Belmond's five-star properties in Budapest and Bucharest, is extremely popular and can book out a year or more in advance.

Africa's most luxurious rail experience, The Blue Train, takes in the breadth of South Africa – from Pretoria in the northeast to the southernmost point at Cape Town – in an overnight journey. The train calls at Kimberley for a glimpse of the country's diamond-mining history and the British colonial village of Matjiesfontein, a National Heritage site. In 2016, it adds a unique take on safaris with an overnight journey to Kruger National Park.

Take in the Pacific Northwest and Canadian Rockies aboard the Rocky Mountaineer's glass-domed cars, with white-linen dining service and conductors who slow the train for wildlife sightings. Travelers sleep in hotels rather than on board, meaning all travel is during daylight hours, so you don't miss anything. The latest eight-day itinerary links Seattle to Calgary by way of Vancouver, Lake Louise, and Banff, including a foray into the temperate Coast Mountains and a helicopter tour over the peaks.

STAY Though it's a large property (294 rooms, including 40 suites and seven penthouses), the Corinthia London feels like a boutique hotel, with an intimate lobby lounge for cocktails and rendezvous, and curated art throughout. Its Northall Restaurant serves modern renditions of British classics, and the massive ESPA Life spa is a marble-and-glass sanctuary in the city.

More striking than ever following its recent renovation, The Gritti Palace, Venice is filled with lush, Renaissance-style paintings and gilded antiques, and many of its 82 rooms have lavish Rubelli fabric wall coverings. The hotel fronts the Grand Canal for easy water-taxi access, and its sunny patio is the perfect spot for savoring cicchetti (Venetian small plates such as soft-shell crab or prawns and polenta) with a prosecco spritz.

tip

"On the British Pullman, make sure to check out the bathrooms in each car: Every floor is tiled with a different Greek myth. It's just one reason I highly recommend a VSOE route that starts or ends in London."

Hot Escapes

The results of our annual Travel Dreams Survey are in. You told us your warm-weather destinations, and now we show you how to make your travel dreams come true – with new trips, the best hotels, and insights from Virtuoso travel advisors.

New Zealand

Kayak, raft, helicopter, and hike the South Island during National Geographic Expeditions' 12-day exploration, which kicks off in Nelson at the island's northern end and concludes in the adventure hub of Queenstown.

Holland America's 13-day round-trip sailing from Sydney on the 1,924-passenger Noordam covers South and North Island highlights, from Fiordland National Park to the arts and wine hub of Napier and the sunny Bay of Islands.

Greece

Check into Amanzoe on the Peloponnese – an untrammeled peninsula southwest of Athens – for a Greek experience that veers far from the typical. Guests stay in one of 38 pavilions, each with a private pool, and spend days sampling honey and olive oil from local producers, visiting historic sites, and lounging at a beach club on the Aegean Sea.

Take in Mount Parnassus, visit the Temple of Olympian Zeus in Delphi, and explore Meteora's monasteries perched on towering rocks during Kensington Tours' private seven-day jaunt through Greece.

Fiji

For the remoteness that landed Fiji in the top ten, look no further than Laucala Island Resort. Just 25 meticulously designed, sago-palm-thatched villas, each with its own infinity pool, dot the private island – including a two-bedroom overwater residence. The resort gets much of its food from an on-island farm and the surrounding waters. And guests get much of their diversion boating, diving, and snorkeling; golfing the on-site course; and riding the resort's Fijian horses.

"The Fijians are proud of their culture, and many villages still practice traditional displays with a kava ceremony. This is an important aspect of any village visit that brings two families together in song and dance. When receiving kava, clap once, yell 'Bula!', drink the kava in one gulp, then clap three times!"

The South Pacific by Snorkel

Three small-ship cruises for adventure lovers.

Paul Gauguin Cruises' 332-passenger Paul Gauguin sails numerous routes through French Polynesia, Fiji, Tonga, and the Cook Islands year-round. Jean-Michel Cousteau joins the ship as a speaker and dive leader four times a year; his next voyages are an 11-day cruise through the Society Islands and Tuamotus (July) and a 15-day itinerary that tacks on the Marquesas (November).

Explore little-visited South Pacific reefs in Tonga, Wallis and Futuna, and the Cook Islands during Zegrahm Expeditions' 17-day cruise from Fiji to Tahiti. Along with snorkeling and diving almost every day, the Caledonian Sky's 100 passengers can hike to waterfalls and sea caves, drink kava with locals, and more.

For the classic South Pacific sojourn: Windstar Cruises' four-masted Wind Spirit. The 148-passenger ship calls at five Society Islands during its eight-day round-trip sailings from Papeete for the chance to visit black pearl farms, scuba dive, and learn to paddle outrigger canoes – or just laze in the sun.

tip

"For special occasions, nothing beats the private dinner served on Paul Gauguin's retractable marina: Crisp white linens, fresh flowers, and an exquisite starlit meal with views of Bora-Bora or Moorea. It's very exclusive and books out early."

Why You Should Visit CUBA Now

With its shores off-limits to U.S. citizens for the past 50 years, travelers are clamoring to experience Cuba's warm people, rich culture, and wealth of heritage and natural sites that, for now, remain unspoiled. Be part of the story as two countries write this new chapter in history; your Virtuoso travel advisor is here as a trusted partner from beginning to end.

A city near-stopped in time, Havana captures the imagination like no other.

The top two floors of Kinkakuji (Golden Pavilion) are completely covered in gold leaf.

Botswana thrills with off-road four-wheel drive adventures.

Go for: THE CULTURE. Beyond the son music genre made famous by Buena Vista Social Club, Cuba is home to a rich Afro-Cuban culture that includes salsa, rumba merengue, and other dance performance styles. Delve into the origins of Afro-Cuban folkloric dance on an eight-day National Geographic photography expedition, shooting portraits of the dancers in motion with a professional National Geographic photographer.

Go for: THE ENTREPRENEURSHIP. The U.S. embargo forced Cubans to get creative, with everything from makeshift parts for their classic American cars – lovingly dubbed “Yank tanks” – to ingredients for cooking. A seven-day cultural tour with Tauck takes you to the Viñales Valley, where you’ll meet agricultural workers to discuss Cuba’s natural resources, conservation efforts, and most famous product, cigars.

Go for: THE NOSTALGIA. Up through the 1950s, Havana was America’s tropical playground; everyone from Frank Sinatra to Bugsy Siegel to Ernest Hemingway was regularly found in its nightclubs and casinos. Visit Papa’s winter home in San Francisco de Paula – including his 9,000-tome library and private yacht – on a nine-day, customizable tour with Latour.

Go for: THE HERITAGE. Cuba boasts nine UNESCO designated sites – more than Egypt, Israel, or Vietnam. The 17th-century San Pedro de la Roca Castle, built to protect Santiago, is regarded as the world’s best-preserved example of Spanish-American military architecture. A panoramic day cruise across the bay is just one highlight of a 13-day adventure with Abercrombie & Kent.

In southeast Cuba, remains of 19th-century coffee plantations are recognized by UNESCO for their pioneering form of agriculture. On an eight-day tour with Backroads, you’ll visit Cafetal Buenavista, a restored coffee plantation, to learn about the country’s coffee industry.

Tauck World Discovery

CUBA, SOUTHERN AFRICA, & JAPAN

Meet face-to-face with Cuban students, architects, musicians, and ballplayers; discuss art in the studios of community artists; visit with organic farmers to talk about agrarian reform; and experience much more during an immersive Cuba tour. Or, celebrate Southern Africa’s natural world in the national parks of Botswana and Zambia, which together are among the largest concentrations of unspoiled wilderness and wildlife on the planet. In Japan, Tauck takes you beyond the neon and soaring skyscrapers to historic castles, graceful Samurai residences, and time-honored customs such as origami and Maiko dancing.

ADVISOR TIP

In Cuba, Tauck arranges meals at paladares, small, privately operated restaurants. On safari in Africa, enjoy the chance to use BBC Earth field equipment. You’ll relish your stay in a traditional Japanese ryokan.
